Parishes lined up for greater powers in devo White Paper

By Michael Burton

More powers for town and parish councils are earmarked in a radical shake-up of town and county hall structures due in the autumn White Paper on devolution.

Confirming last week the Government will be 'recessing ahead with the publication of our White Paper on devolution and local recovery this autumn' local government minister Simon Clarke said the plans would 'remove the complexity of governance and reduce costs to the taxpayer while making space for town and parish councils to be genuinely empowered'.

Speaking at the Local Government Association virtual conference he added: 'I'm acutely aware of the vital contribution that town and parish councils make to everyday life, whether it's keeping public toilets open, running car parks or maintaining natural spaces which have been a lifeline to many throughout this time.' He added: 'I really do want to say a thank you to parish and town councils who have been doing amazing work.'

Justin Griggs, head of policy at the National Association of Local Councils, said: 'We need to recognise that many parish and town councils have stepped up during the pandemic and must be part of the devo agenda. Whose representation take shape

Simon Clarke (pictured with chancellor Rishi Sunak) had praise for parish and town councils

He said the paper would include plans for 'more elected mayors and unitaries as in Dorset, Buckinghamshire and Northamptonshire'

he said: 'We don't want councils to make serious in-year savings or issue s114 notices when it's not required.'

Councils still at risk despite £500m boost

The head of Parliament's financial watchdog has warned 'a lot' of councils remained at risk of 'effectively going bankrupt' despite a £500m cash injection.

Communities secretary Robert Jenrick last week announced an unrivalling £500m and will allow council and business rates tax deficits to be repaid over three years instead of the usual one. In addition, where losses are more than 5% of a local authority's planned income from sales, fees and charges, the Government will cover 75p for every pound lost.

Despite the latest package, the Ministry of Housing, Communities and Local Government (MHCLG) has conceded that councils could still be left with unmanageable pressures and urged any authority thinking of issuing a Section 114 notice to contact the department.

But chair of the Public Accounts Committee, Meg Hillier, said this week: 'My concern is that s114 notices could effectively be delayed rather than prevented, that local government is already having to make tough decisions about its spending, redefining the announcement made

OPPORTUNITY PROVIDED BY NEW COMMUNITY SPIRIT?

“There’s nothing more local than the parish or town council. They know their community street by street and to say they inspired and supported local volunteering in response to Covid is an understatement”

(Royal Voluntary Service report (March 2021))

on them

- A massive 12.4 million people volunteered during the pandemic, 4.6 million of them for the first time, of whom 75% would volunteer again

"We found a clear public appetite for a society in which we are more connected to each other and the community spirit of 2020 is kept alive."

LGA report Local Service delivery and place-shaping. A framework to support parish and town councils

“The potential of parish and town councils to contribute to vibrant and successful local and community governance has grown noticeably in the last decade.

“This framework aims to set out a practical set of actions and considerations for a principal council that is considering working more closely with its town and parish (local) council sector

Local action must involve leadership from both principal and local councils and will evolve through experience.

Centre for social justice backs NALC's campaign to create more local councils

“Parish council-level representation provides a vital, highly local level of accountability and decision-making”

NALC hopes that these issues will be picked up in forthcoming white paper on levelling up and recovery and the PM's devo deals

HOW CAN COUNCILLORS HELP?

- Rethink relations “Good, positive effective relations, both in and outside of councils, are the keys to delivering for our people and places.”
- Rethink ambitions “Our relevance as the 1st tier of local government rests firmly on supporting and improving our communities and being at the heart of local place-shaping.”
- Rethink Engagement “Our 100,000 councillors are the closest democratic representatives to residents. They can play a crucial role in restoring faith in democracy and confidence in how our country is governed and decisions which affect our lives. But we cannot merely rely on the ballot box every four years to deliver this.”
- Uphold the highest standards of conduct and behaviour. Take up training and development opportunities.

QUESTIONS AND COMMENTS

- Do you think there is a greater sense of community as a result of the pandemic and how do we harness it and encourage new volunteers to continue to engage?
- What views do you have on NALC's services or its campaigns?
- What is your local council doing to engage young people?
- How do we build partnerships with other tiers of government and the wider public sector?
- How do we promote civility and respect in public life?
- How do we seize the moment and ensure local councils assume their rightful place as the first tier of local government.
